

Job 11

Englische King James Version von 1611/1769 mit Strongs

1 Then answered^{H6030} Zophar^{H6691} the Naamathite^{H5284}, and said^{H559}, 2 Should not the multitude^{H7230} of words^{H1697} be answered^{H6030}? and should a man^{H376} full of talk^{H8193} be justified^{H6663}?¹ 3 Should thy lies^{H907} make^{H2790} men^{H4962} hold their peace^{H2790}? and when thou mockest^{H3932}, shall no man make thee ashamed^{H3637}?² 4 For thou hast said^{H559}, My doctrine^{H3948} is pure^{H2134}, and I am clean^{H1249} in thine eyes^{H5869}. 5 But^{H199} oh that^{H5414} God^{H433} would speak^{H1696}, and open^{H6605} his lips^{H8193} against thee; 6 And that he would shew^{H5046} thee the secrets^{H8587} of wisdom^{H2451}, that they are double^{H3718} to that which is^{H8454}! Know^{H3045} therefore that God^{H433} exacteth^{H5382} of thee less than thine iniquity^{H5771} deserveth.

7 Canst thou by searching^{H2714} find out^{H4672} God^{H433}? canst thou find^{H4672} out the Almighty^{H7706} unto perfection^{H8503}? 8 It is as high^{H1363} as heaven^{H8064}; what canst thou do^{H6466}? deeper^{H6013} than hell^{H7585}; what canst thou know^{H3045}?³ 9 The measure^{H4055} thereof is longer^{H752} than the earth^{H776}, and broader^{H7342} than the sea^{H3220}. 10 If he cut off^{H2498}, and shut up^{H5462}, or gather together^{H6950}, then who can hinder^{H7725} him?⁴ 11 For he knoweth^{H3045} vain^{H7723} men^{H4962}: he seeth^{H7200} wickedness^{H205} also; will he not then consider^{H995} it? 12 For vain^{H5014} man^{H376} would be wise^{H3823}, though man^{H120} be born^{H3205} like a wild ass's^{H6501} colt^{H5895}.⁶

13 If thou prepare^{H3559} thine heart^{H3820}, and stretch^{H6566} out thine hands^{H3709} toward him; 14 If iniquity^{H205} be in thine hand^{H3027}, put it far away^{H7368}, and let not wickedness^{H5766} dwell^{H7931} in thy tabernacles^{H168}. 15 For then shalt thou lift up^{H5375} thy face^{H6440} without spot^{H3971}; yea, thou shalt be steadfast^{H3332}, and shalt not fear^{H3372}. 16 Because thou shalt forget^{H7911} thy misery^{H5999}, and remember^{H2142} it as waters^{H4325} that pass away^{H5674}. 17 And thine age^{H2465} shall be clearer^{H6965} than the noonday^{H6672}; thou shalt shine forth^{H5774}, thou shalt be as the morning^{H1242}. 18 And thou shalt be secure^{H982}, because there is^{H3426} hope^{H8615}; yea, thou shalt dig^{H2658} about thee, and thou shalt take thy rest^{H7901} in safety^{H983}. 19 Also thou shalt lie down^{H7257}, and none shall make thee afraid^{H2729}; yea, many^{H7227} shall make suit^{H2470} unto thee^{H6440}.⁸ 20 But the eyes^{H5869} of the wicked^{H7563} shall fail^{H3615}, and they shall not escape^{H6} H4498, and their hope^{H8615} shall be as the giving up^{H4646} of the ghost^{H5315}.⁹

Fußnoten

1. full...: Heb. of lips
2. lies: or, devices
3. as high...: Heb. the heights of heaven
4. cut...: or, make a change
5. hinder...: Heb. turn him away?
6. vain: Heb. empty
7. be clearer...: Heb. shall arise above the noon-day
8. make suit...: Heb. intreat thy face
9. they shall...: Heb. flight shall perish from them
10. the giving...: or, a puff of breath