

Job 37

Englische King James Version von 1611/1769 mit Strongs

1 At this^{H2063} also my heart^{H3820} trembleth^{H2729}, and is moved out^{H5425} of his place^{H4725}. 2 Hear^{H8085} attentively^{H8085} the noise^{H7267} of his voice^{H6963}, and the sound^{H1899} that goeth out^{H3318} of his mouth^{H6310}. 3 He directeth^{H3474} it^{H8281} under the whole heaven^{H8064}, and his lightning^{H216} unto the ends^{H3671} of the earth^{H776}. 4 After^{H310} it a voice^{H6963} roareth^{H7580}: he thundereth^{H7481} with the voice^{H6963} of his excellency^{H1347}; and he will not stay^{H6117} them when his voice^{H6963} is heard^{H8085}. 5 God^{H410} thundereth^{H7481} marvellously^{H6381} with his voice^{H6963}; great things^{H1419} doeth^{H6213} he, which we cannot comprehend^{H3045}.

6 For he saith^{H559} to the snow^{H7950}, Be thou^{H1933} on the earth^{H776}; likewise to the small^{H4306} rain^{H1653}, and to the great^{H4306} rain^{H1653} of his strength^{H5797}. 7 He sealeth up^{H2856} the hand^{H3027} of every man^{H120}; that all men^{H582} may know^{H3045} his work^{H4639}. 8 Then the beasts^{H2416} go^{H935} into^{H1119} dens^{H695}, and remain^{H7931} in their places^{H4585}. 9 Out of the south^{H2315} cometh^{H935} the whirlwind^{H5492}: and cold^{H7135} out of the north^{H4215}. 10 By the breath^{H5397} of God^{H410} frost^{H7140} is given^{H5414}: and the breadth^{H7341} of the waters^{H4325} is straitened^{H4164}. 11 Also by watering^{H7377} he wearieth^{H2959} the thick cloud^{H5645}: he scattereth^{H6327} his bright^{H216} cloud^{H6051}. 12 And it is turned^{H2015} round about^{H4524} by his counsels^{H8458}: that they may do^{H6467} whatsoever he commandeth^{H6680} them upon the face^{H6440} of the world^{H8398} in the earth^{H776}. 13 He causeth it to come^{H4672}, whether for correction^{H7626}, or for his land^{H776}, or for mercy^{H2617}.

14 Hearken^{H238} unto this, O Job^{H347}: stand still^{H5975}, and consider^{H995} the wondrous^{H6381} works of God^{H410}. 15 Dost thou know^{H3045} when God^{H433} disposed^{H7760} them, and caused the light^{H216} of his cloud^{H6051} to shine^{H3313}? 16 Dost thou know^{H3045} the balancings^{H4657} of the clouds^{H5645}, the wondrous works^{H4652} of him which is perfect^{H8549} in knowledge^{H1843}? 17 How thy garments^{H899} are warm^{H2525}, when he quieteth^{H8252} the earth^{H776} by the south^{H1864} wind? 18 Hast thou with him spread out^{H7554} the sky^{H7834}, which is strong^{H2389}, and as a molten^{H3332} looking glass^{H7209}? 19 Teach^{H3045} us what we shall say^{H559} unto him; for we cannot order^{H6186} our speech by reason^{H6440} of darkness^{H2822}. 20 Shall it be told^{H5608} him that I speak^{H1696}? if a man^{H376} speak^{H559}, surely he shall be swallowed up^{H1104}.

21 And now men see^{H7200} not the bright^{H925} light^{H216} which is in the clouds^{H7834}: but the wind^{H7307} passeth^{H5674}, and cleanseth^{H2891} them. 22 Fair weather^{H2091} cometh^{H857} out of the north^{H6828}: with God^{H433} is terrible^{H3372} majesty^{H1935}. 23 Touching the Almighty^{H7706}, we cannot find him out^{H4672}: he is excellent^{H7689} in power^{H3581}, and in judgment^{H4941}, and in plenty^{H7230} of justice^{H6666}: he will not afflict^{H6031}. 24 Men^{H582} do therefore fear^{H3372} him: he respecteth^{H7200} not any that are wise^{H2450} of heart^{H3820}.
